17. Faux-fur trim waterproof boots that are basically the shoe equivalent of having beauty and brains because not only are they super cute, but they're also temperature-rated up to -11 degrees F.

Promising review: "After trying on tens of other brands of boots, I can tell you that these ones are PERFECT! They are SUPER comfortable! I walked an average of 13,000 steps per day for 20 days on them for my Europe winter trip and my feet and back never hurt! They are warm enough for a 25-degree weather with the right socks. I haven't had the chance to try them in rain yet, but they are supposed to be water-resistant. They are true to size, and there's even enough room to wear thick or double socks without feeling too tight. And the best part, they are beautiful and fashionable." —Nordstrom Customer
