Colorful Contemporary Jewelry With An Italian Touch For Creative Souls

ITALIAN DESIGN

Varily combines the superb know-how of Italian tradition with contemporary design and innovative technology. Valeria D'Annibale is a contemporary jewelry designer and maker, born and raised in Italy, now based in The Hague (NL).

HANDMADE & 3D PRINTED

Each piece is smoothed and refined, then individually hand dipped into hypoallergenic pigments mixed in-house to achieve the most vibrant colors. When creating 3D printed elements for her jewelry, Valeria draws inspiration from repetitive geometric patterns found in everyday life. An initial design must be translated into a series of grids that can be printed in 3D. The pieces are created in a controlled and precise way, maintaining the object's geometric perfection.

COLORFUL

Special attention is paid to achieving vibrant colors, using proprietary recipes of different pigments and dyes to create unique colors. These color palettes are based on the Pantone system and designed to suit different skin tones and color analysis types. The colorful pieces are not only designed to complement a look but are a wearable tool to uplift the mood through color psychology and symbolism.

SUSTAINABLE MATERIALS

Varily strives for a better and more sustainable life and is committed to a lighter footprint. The process creates nearly zero waste. Everything is designed and locally made in Holland. Varily jewels are 100% recyclable and vegan-friendly.

Nylon is a flexible and resilient material, which is hypoallergenic, lightweight and waterproof. To preserve the vibrant look of Varily's jewels:
minimize contact with water and perfume,
store away from sunlight,
soak in warm soapy water for a few seconds to restore the color.
