CAPSULE COLLECTION 01 // ZAHA

MOODBOARD

“Architecture is how the person places herself in the space. Fashion is about how you place the object on the person.” Zaha Hadid

COLLECTION NOTE

Inspired by the visionary architect Zaha Hadid, our first collection ZAHA is so much more than meets the eye. Borrowing from her design aesthetic of sweeping asymmetrical lines and structured pleats, these pieces elevate what a capsule wardrobe normally looks like. A darker, muted monochromatic palette allows delicate details like texture and stitching to come into focus. Like Zaha herself, these garments emanate subtle power. After all, beauty and strength do often go hand in hand.

CHILLOSOPHY

BRAND ETHOS

Chillosophy was borne out of a personal need to have access to elevated essentials without sacrificing comfort. In 2018, Silky Ahluwalia took a leap of faith and launched into fashion bringing forward her own unique and disruptive view of the industry. Since then, Chillosophy has seamlessly (— no pun intended) developed their collections while maintaining their signature minimal patterns, asymmetrical cuts and impeccable hand-woven detailing.

Chillosophy's work today essentially rests in linking the skills of traditional weavers and dyers spread all across India with those of the craftsmen working in the studio. The collective skills they bring is an accumulation of knowledge passed down through many generations. Eventually resulting in garments that defy trends and seasons, and will be handed down to future generations of independent women.

As a design philosophy, Chillosophy believes that fashion is so much more than what is worn. Everything crafted has a story to tell. The designs and ideas come from the history of womanhood, equality and self-actualization. Hand designed and created, the garments amplify the artistic process and embody sustainable fashion.

These pieces are meant to take you on your individual journey, wherever it is that you seek to go.
