prêt-à-couture

Make a dream come true, is how Isabella Caposano describes her creations. Telling the stories of the SEP artists through hand-embroidery is what SEP does. The result: a prêt-à-couture capsule which is sure to generate strong emotions with its aesthetic and ethical statement.

SEP is a social enterprise B Corporation that aims to lift thousands of female refugees above the poverty line through training and employment. Founded in 2013 by Roberta Ventura, a former investment banker turned social entrepreneur, who now manages it with her husband Stefano D'Ambrosio, SEP has offices in Geneva, Amman and the Jerash refugee camp and boutiques in Milan, Berlin, Amman and Geneva. SEP is a luxury lifestyle brand: a fusion of Italian style with the best of Middle Eastern craftsmanship. Today over 500 female artists work with SEP in Jerash camp, Jordan.

ISABELLA CAPOSANO

The Isabella Caposano brand was born in 2015 with headquarters in Pescara, in the heart of the city of D'Annunzio. In the Atelier, which bears the name of its founder, everything is hand-made to create one-of-a-kind dresses. The creations that bear the name of Isabella Caposano are handcrafted by a staff of tailors, embroiderers, lace makers and a fashion designer who translate the essence of Mrs. Isabella's visions into a sketch and then the dress of your dreams.

"Every woman deserves to wear a dream."
