"I was so surprised by how good I felt after a few days. I don?t feel hungry for carbs anymore, like I used to every single afternoon. I feel full of positive energy when I wake up in the mornings. Drinking this tonic once a day has some amazing benefits for me. I feel happy with my body for the first time in years. Just being able to wear my favorite jeans again after so many years feels wonderful. It?s helped with my marriage enormously and my husband is delighted to get the happy me back again... But the best part is feeling so confident, getting compliments from others and being able to go to the beach or swim at the pool without feeling self-conscious about how I look. Thanks ?" Phytoestrogens are a special group of phytonutrients that occur naturally in most plant foods. The two major classes are isoflavones in soy, and lignans in seeds, like flax and sesame. They?re called phytoestrogens because they interact with estrogen receptors. There has been much controversy among health enthusiasts and medical professional alike. Let?s clear up any misunderstandings about phytoestrogens, particularly when it comes to flax seeds. linked here
