When parents are into superhero comic books, TV shows and movies, they may choose to decorate their kid's nursery with this same super theme! With all the success that these stories see, there are tons of items out there from which to choose, making this a viable option that can look cute and cool.

From toys and organizational products to bedding and light fixtures, the list below has 10 things that can really add to this theme. Plus, parents may even want to steal some of these pieces, which would look good in any and all areas of the house!

Children come with lots of tools and things, so many different organizers will be needed. Why not opt for one with a superhero theme, for this superhero room?

This six-bin storage container could hold toys. It could separate out different action figures. It could be a fun place to hold creams and ointments. Or it could be put by the closet, in order to store bows, belts and other accessories. Many people will surely find it to be useful, as well as to be a wonderful nod to a well-known hero: Spider-Man.
