

The best desks for kids of all ages

(CNN) — Since the pandemic began, forcing most school-age children into a virtual learning setup, parents have collectively realized that a) teaching is not their forte, and b) providing kids with a structured, organized environment at home is essential to them learning.

What that's meant is that parents have had to load up on the kinds of supplies kids usually get at school — crayons, markers, colored pencils, glue sticks, scissors and, of course, an all-important desk. According to Sara Kirsch, general manager of education for Wayfair Professional, search for “kids desk” was up 120% this year compared to 2019. “Student desks have consistently been one of our top-performing searches since March,” she told us.

As a result, with school back in session across the country, kids' desks aren't easy to land right now — with many completely out of stock or backordered until next year. Fear not, though, for we scoured the internet to find the best desk options for kids of all ages — from preschool to high school — that are available now. Below are options in every color, material and size you can imagine, starting at just $40. Happy teaching, parents!

Delta Children Chair Desk With Storage Bin ($42.49, originally $44.99; amazon.com)

Delight preschoolers with this adorable pint-size chair and desk set where they can color, read books and check in with their teachers on Zoom. Available in 12 different character themes (“Lion King,” “Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles,” Spider-Man and more), not to mention plain white and gray hues, this sweet little desk also comes with a storage bin for all your big kid’s essentials — like, ya know, a blankie, books and maybe a pacifier too.