Lauren Conrad is known for her fashion sense, and it seems her future baby will also have the latest must-have accessories.

The Hills alum, 33, has partnered with Amazon Baby Registry for an exhaustive wish list of products ahead of welcoming her second child.

Los Angeles-based designer Lauren has revealed the mothering essentials that she will be snapping up for baby number two, from some $7 toys to a very pricey $900 self-rocking sleeper crib.

The list includes a convertible crib ($239.99) which requires a mattress, non-toxic of course, ($119.99). The nursery room will also be complete with the addition of a rocking chair by Delta Children ($269.99) and a baby/breathing monitor from Cocoon Cam Plus ($149.99).
