

10 lightweight strollers that will change the way you travel with kids

We love a good family adventure. But traveling with kids? It's no easy feat, mamas. Gone are the days of throwing a few things in a bag and catching the next flight to the beach; now it's all about packing lists and pacifiers, diapers and dream feeds, and doing your best not to forget all the things you need to make it through the day with your little ones. And number one on our must-have travel list? A compact stroller.

A lightweight, compact travel stroller is an absolute must for a family on the move. When you're juggling kids on the go, the last thing you need to worry about is a big, bulky stroller that's going to take up your entire trunk or slow you down in the airport. (Yes, you really do need that bigger stroller, too, but we'll get to that later!)

And if you Google "lightweight strollers" you're going to discover there are more than just a few of them... there are hundreds of options for you to choose from. Which we're guessing is just a wee bit overwhelming for you! Fear not, we tested many—actually, our babies tested them!—to help narrow down your choices. Things we considered when picking our faves: Stroller weight, maneuverability, durability, open/fold functionality, storage and, last but not least, appearance.

So, if you're planning your next trip—or just looking to lighten your load—check out our favorite lightweight strollers that are perfect for travel!

5. Delta The Clutch Stroller

If you're not looking for a travel stroller hybrid, and you're decidedly in the market for one that is light-as-a-feather, well then mama, look no further than Delta The Clutch Stroller. Weighing just 11 pounds, the Clutch folds up smaller than a paper grocery bag in just two seconds. It comprises an adjustable sun visor, a good amount of under-seat storage and a five-point harness with reflective straps. And despite its compact stature, the stroller is super easy to maneuver thanks to a bevy of swivel wheels.

More to know: It meets Disney size requirements (celebrity mom Jenni "JWOWW" Farley loved using it at the park with her kids) and like the rest on our list, can fit in an overhead airline bin—but at this weight, you won't be struggling to get it up there!
