CURIOUS COMBINATIONS

Sandy Visse & Susan Greenbaum

October 22 – November 21, 2015

There are times in ART Elements where our artwork finds unexpected art friends.

These unconventional pairings give your eyes a visual dance. You may try to figure out why the art works together, but somehow they just do.

Our visitors are brightly surprised when they encounter our serendipitous curations, “huh, I would have never thought to put these together, but they are fabulous!”

This may go against a lot of formal art laws of hanging, but we like to think our Oregon art has character and sometimes they get into beautiful mischief. We hope you can stop in and see these unique combinations for the Curious Combinations show.

SUSAN GREENBAUM

SHOW STATEMENT

My mixed media journey has provided so many materials and techniques for me to explore. This body of work is evidence of a period in time for me where I allowed my inner artist to take over any preconceived notions to create a certain way. I celebrate that experimental, problem-solving, allowing spirit that takes me to so many joyous places in my work.

ARTIST BIOGRAPHY

Susan Greenbaum was a dorm parent in a private boarding school in Illinois for five years after college, being the “parent” to 16 boys in grades 5 and 6, then girls in grades 1-6. She had her own three children during that time so there was no time to do the painting she loved. After teaching for 25 years, Susan finally got the chance to resign from a profession she loved but that kept her very busy being the dedicated parent and teacher she wanted to be.

Susan married an orthodontist in 1994 who has been extremely supportive of her painting. He does a meticulous job of putting her frames together. It is guaranteed they will always be straight! Since about 2000 Susan has been working primarily in water media and going back to her “roots” in expressive, experimental abstract painting. She typically has no idea what she is going to paint when she begins. She picks some colors that appeal to her, frequently turn up the music, and just begin. Sometimes it gets pretty messy in Susan’s Springcreek studio in Lake Oswego, and it is then that she knows she is really into what she’s doing.
