Being a pop music journalist

You are going to read an article in which a pop music journalist describes his career and the work he does. For questions 1–10, choose from the paragraphs (A–D). The paragraphs may be chosen more than once.

In which paragraph does the writer

- 1 describe the pleasure he derives from certain discoveries?
- 2 put forward the view that music journalism should be provocative?
- 3

✔ Correct!

The correct answer is B: 'I'm not sure it has much effect on what music people buy. If anyone really took notice of what music journalists think, the charts would look very different.'

✘ Incorrect!

B is incorrect as although when the writer says 'good writing about music still has a role' he's suggesting that in one way music journalism has stayed the same, this general role isn't the same idea as one thing that people look for in articles about music.
