

HEALING ESSENCES FROM THE HEART OF NATURE®

February 2017 Specials

Heart-Centered Healing

Many of us are experiencing uncertainty surrounding current world events. While we can't control the world around us, we do have the power to choose how we respond to the world. The following essences assist us as we look into the shadow element of our uncertainty and any associated trauma that may be blocking or limiting the loving energy of our hearts. These essences help us find clarity and confidence, and to stay centered and stabilized, so that we may move forward in our lives with courageous heart-centered action.

Pale Corydalis

Full Moon Reflection

Rose Quartz

Pale Corydalis is an essence of hope and optimism. It brings in a frequency of angelic purity and sweetness and helps us use this energy to strengthen our sense of self, bolster our qualities of self-knowing and self-identification, and build our confidence in what we can do and be in the world. This essence helps us start new cycles in life with trust, encouraging us to commit to something because we want to, not because we think we have to.

Full Moon Reflection shines a penetrating light deep into our shadow selves to illuminate that which lies unresolved beneath the surface of our consciousness. As we open ourselves to this light, we have the opportunity to let go of many of the subconscious patterns that are affecting us and others in ways beyond our current understanding. It allows us to take responsibility for our own patterns rather than reflecting them onto others.

Rose Quartz strengthens and stabilizes our hearts so we can let more love into our lives. As we allow this flow of loving energy to increase, the defensive energies we put into place to protect our hearts in the past are gently cleared away. These defenses are no longer needed because the strongest protection we can have is an open heart.

Montana Rhodochrosite brings strength and solidity to the heart chakra and restores wholeness to the heart after an experience of great pain and suffering. It clears distortion, fear, confusion, and chaos from the heart while clarifying intent and promoting courageous, heart-centered action. It allows those with wounded hearts to receive a quality of nourishing love from the Earth.

Green Bog Orchid initiates and supports a profound cleansing and balancing process in the heart chakra. When we are in alignment with this flower's energy, we are able to journey into the heart and embrace troubling issues with clarity and understanding and direct the available healing energy to where it is most needed. Green Bog Orchid is an important source of support for the development of our heart connection with nature, a connection that must be made within each of us if we are to fulfill our divine co-creative potential.

Cotton Grass is for those who have suffered an accident or injury in their past and have been unable to move beyond the shock and trauma because they don't understand why it happened. It stimulates the release of tension held around the event and the resulting injuries. This relaxation allows the integration of lessons, and the letting go of all physical pain associated with the healing process. Then we may incorporate all of the wisdom gained into new cycles of experience.
