

HEALING ESSENCES FROM THE HEART OF NATURE®

June 2014 Specials

Helping Animals Heal

The practice of using flower, gem, and environmental essences with animals is beneficial for two reasons. First and foremost, these gentle remedies from nature can bring healing and ease to all animals and help them to live full and joyful lives. Secondly, by choosing to become involved in an ongoing program of essence therapy for the animals in our lives, we are given a unique opportunity to gain a deeper understanding and appreciation of their rich soul lives, high intelligence, and evolutionary paths. This understanding can help us extend our love and concern for them in ways that will truly contribute to their well-being and happiness, and promote increased harmony in our families and on the planet.

Animal Care is primarily intended to support animal rescue work. It will be most valuable when it is integrated into both the initial and long term care provided for any animal who arrives at a shelter, treatment center, veterinarian clinic, or sanctuary. This formula also helps animals cope with any kind of change, such as:

- A sudden change in location, especially during the adoption and/or rehoming process
- When a new animal comes into the family dynamic or one leaves
- When the animal's family goes away on a trip and it is left behind

Available in 1/4 oz and 1 oz size stock bottles, and 2 oz and 4 oz spray bottles.

Grove Sandwort works with separation anxiety, which often occurs when an animal has not been weened properly. Dogs who have difficulty being away from their humans and who bark incessantly when left home alone are most often suffering from separation anxiety. This essence helps animals strengthen their bonding connection with the earth regardless of external circumstances, and their behavior will be less anxious as a result. If you are 'expecting' new kittens or puppies, use Grove Sandwort to help the newborns make an immediate connection with their new physical surroundings. This link will make the eventual weaning process much easier for all involved.

Available in 1/4 oz and 1 oz size stock bottles

Guardian is for animals who don't feel safe or protected. This may be because they have been abandoned by their owners, or captured in the wilds and forced into captivity, or have suffered some sort of shock that has broken their connection with their inner sense of security. Guardian can be used to help these animals reclaim their energetic space, restore their connection with the earth, and feel the protection of their own guardian spirits.

Available in 1/4 oz and 1 oz size stock bottles, and 2 oz and 4 oz spray bottles.

Soul Support Soul Support is an emergency care formula that can be used to bring balance, stability and strength to animals who have been involved in stressful or traumatic circumstances. It is especially helpful in the following situations:

- Accidents involving injury, shock and trauma
- Before, during and after routine visits to the vet
- Before and immediately after surgery and during recovery
- During thunderstorms and when fireworks are being set off

Available in 1/4 oz and 1 oz size stock bottles, and 2 oz and 4 oz spray bottles.
