

HEALING ESSENCES FROM THE HEART OF NATURE®

September 2014 Online Specials

Dream Your World

Are aspects of your life out of balance and even out of control in this complicated world of today? So many of us desire to co-create a world where we live as whole-hearted beings, at one with Mother Earth and in harmony with a larger perspective that embraces the divine energy of all that is. With essences, we can empower and inspire ourselves to create a world in which we would all love to exist, a world that is more in alignment with our inner wisdom and divine nature. This month we are discounting eight essences that can help us in the process of giving birth to a new world. They assist in the release of past difficulties and the resolution of long held issues. They energize the process of deep and beneficial inner change and the activation of our soul purpose. These essences help us connect to our internal guidance and activate inspired partnership between the physical and the unseen realms. They will support us as we dream, and as we embrace and envision this larger perspective, holding space for the potential of new creation.

This month we are discounting the following essences by 25%:

Augustine Volcano

Augustine Volcano facilitates the positive release of unexpressed energy and emotion, and the favorable resolution of issues long held in stagnation. It teaches us that intense cataclysmic events such as volcanic eruptions are benevolent instruments for change. The earth will continue to make strong internal adjustments. As we learn to perceive these adjustments in a favorable way, we are able to use the energy that is contained within them to support deep, intense, and beneficial changes within ourselves.

Bog

Bog - Bogs are alive with an abundance of elemental energies and hold the fresh new energy of potential, special containers for the heart energy of the planet. Bog is about the realization of potential, and for increasing our ability to hold potential for new creation. It can be used to support any creative act, but is especially applicable for women, to help them hold the feminine heart space as a chalice for creating new life, and a source of nurturing energy for their families.

Go-Create Abundance Formula

Go-Create is designed to help you co-create what you want, need, and desire in your life with less resistance and more ease, efficiency and effectiveness. This formula will help you clear limiting beliefs that you are holding from past experiences, enhance your ability to feel worthy to receive your heart's desire, and find the energies of trust, faith, and gratitude that will empower you to hold a vibration that is in alignment with what you truly desire to create in your life.

Herkimer Diamond

Northern Lights

Herkimer Diamond is a highly developed transmitter of white light and it promotes clarity of vision. It stimulates healing at all levels, facilitates clarity during the dream state, and helps us fine tune and focus the activities of the 6th chakra.

Northern Twayblade

Peridot

Northern Lights is often indicated when we are poised on the edge of a breakthrough in consciousness, but lack the energy to complete the process. Northern Lights can help us tap into the fundamental creation forces of the Universal Field and gather the energy we need to make the transition from the old to the new. It has the capacity to work with our energy patterns at an archetypal level re-patterning the heart. When we are in a place of dissolution and disintegration, it helps us create a new energetic matrix of connection in our hearts based on Universal Love.

Prickly Wild Rose

Northern Twayblade helps us ground our sensitivity to the subtle realms more fully into our physical body and life experience. It catalyzes the release of fear and resistance from deep levels of the heart. This helps us prepare and maintain a place where the subtle and spiritual can work together in an increasingly harmonious partnership with the physical. Such a partnership is absolutely necessary if we are to come to the deepest possible understanding of how all physical manifestation is truly a manifestation of the Divine.

Peridot is the stone of new beginnings, providing gentle structural support during times of essential change, helping us feel safe and secure when we are challenged to move beyond or outside of our usual safety zone into new areas of life. Many people, when faced with a new and potentially threatening situation, will either try to manipulate the situation or avoid it altogether in order to maintain their sense of safety. Peridot encourages us to make the 'transition' zone part of our 'safety' zone. This results in the creation of authentic safety that we can dwell in without doubt, stress or fear.

Prickly Wild Rose helps us manifest and courageous interest in life in the face of seemingly adverse circumstances. For these situations, or any important life transition, the essence of Prickly Wild Rose can be of assistance. It can help us let go of past difficulties, look at our challenges and accomplishments honestly, and look forward to the future with joy, optimism, and excitement.
