

HEALING ESSENCES FROM THE HEART OF NATURE®

September 2016 Specials

Essences for Children

For the month of September, we are offering a 25% discount on a special collection of our combination formulas that parents can use with their children on a daily basis. Many children are returning to school this month after the freedom of a long summer vacation, and everyone in the family will be affected by changing schedules and priorities. Regardless of whether your child is going back to a comfortable situation with familiar friends or transferring to a new school, it is normal for them to experience some anxiety and back-to-school stress. Some children are born more sensitive to their environment than others and these children respond amazingly well to the support and protection provided by vibrational essences. These formulas will also help your children strengthen their ability to focus, pay attention and participate during class, handle the expectations of their parents and teachers, and cope with the intense social dynamics of being in school.

Beyond Words is for children who have difficulty speaking up in class or taking part in classroom discussions because they are shy, have a tendency to be naturally introverted, or feel vulnerable being in front of a group of their peers. This formula will also help them clarify and organize their thoughts for oral tests and classroom presentations.

Calling All Angels is for the child who is having difficulty sleeping. Keep a bottle of Calling All Angels spray next to your child's bed for use when they wake up in the middle of the night to help them get back to sleep. This formula is also helpful for the first-time student who is missing the familiarity of home.

Easy Learning is for those students that have difficulty focusing and concentrating on what the teacher is presenting because they are easily distracted. It enhances memory and mental focus and helps with the processing, understanding and integration of new information. The Easy Learning spray can also be used at home to create a focused environment for doing homework.

Guardian is for sensitive children who easily become overwhelmed and overstimulated by the busy, noisy and hectic environments of the classroom, playground, and lunchroom. It is extremely helpful for those who are faced with bullying, being embarrassed by other students, or being publicly shamed by authority figures.

Soul Support provides strength, balance and stability for any stressful situation that the family is dealing with. It also brings support for schedule changes, arguments at home, injuries on the playground, fights with other children, homework overload, and test anxiety.

Travel Ease helps to ease the transition back to school after the long summer vacation. It will also help sensitive children cope with the crowded environment of the school bus, and ease any disorientation that your kids may experience traveling to a new school or university. Travel Ease also assists with general grounding, functional energy boundaries, and protection.

Using Essences with Children in School:

For young children:

Add two drops of the chosen essences to your child's water bottle or thermos each morning before they head off to school. Spritzing your child with the essences both before and after school also provides the added support they need.

Make up a small spritzer bottle: fill a 1-oz or 2-oz unbreakable bottle with filtered or distilled water and add two drops of each chosen essence you wish to use. Instruct your child to spritz themselves with it as often as they choose, when they feel they need it. Instruct them not to spray other children or school papers, etc. Be sure to let the teacher know what is in the spritzer bottle in advance. Do not include anything scented.

For older children:

Make up a dosage bottle: Fill a clean one ounce glass dropper bottle with pure spring or distilled water and add two drops of each selected essence. We recommend adding 20% to 25% vegetable glycerin or flavored vinegar for preservative. The standard dosage is four drops, four times a day, or as needed.

Relief, Renewal and Reconnection

Relieving Trauma with the Alaskan Essences

A Weekend Workshop with Steve Johnson

September 24-25 — Kendal, Cumbria, UK

Trauma is perhaps the most intense form of learning available to us. It often happens when we are not listening to our inner guidance. Unresolved trauma is essentially life experience that has not been integrated. The presence of trauma can weaken and contribute to the storage of toxins in the physical body. It can also cause numerous difficulties at the emotional, mental, and spiritual levels. In this workshop Steve will introduce a new approach to healing and releasing trauma using the Alaskan Essences.

The cost for this workshop is £190
