TESTIMONIAL FROM CUSTOMER:

The DPF filter warning had come on in my 2012 BMW X5 Diesel. Cost to replace at the dealership was >$6500. The car had been great with 260,000 km on the clock and almost no service costs other than tires, brakes and oil changes since I bought it new. Found these folks - and they recommended the RightChoice mechanic across the road to remove the filter. The whole operation went smoothly - as discussed - on time and cost was under the quote since they had to do a slightly different clean operation than expected on the filter. Excellent work and it saved me $5000. The X5 now runs like new and get's fuel mileage as it did when new. Thanks Jan for the excellent mechanic recommendation and the excellent work.
