Shipping Policy

Purchase Orders and Charges

Customers may work directly with one of Polycarbin's CSRs to place a purchase order (PO) or by visiting Polycarbin's website to place an order through the e-commerce storefront. Customers will be charged in one of two ways: i) If the customer has an established pricing agreement with Polycarbin, a PO will be charged in accordance with the agreed upon terms ii) Without a pricing agreement in place, customers can view product pricing listed on the storefront and should expect to pay standard shipping and handling charges and sales tax.

Shipping and Delivery

Products ordered through Polycarbin's e-commerce storefront, and any other format of direct transaction with Polycarbin, will be shipped by Polycarbin personnel and delivered by an authorized carrier to the customer's specified shipping address (does not include post office boxes), FOB destination. Shipping costs will follow the Prepaid and Add invoicing format.

While we at Polycarbin work diligently to ensure that our e-commerce storefront accurately reflects the most up-to-date view of our inventory on hand, there are occasions where products are unavailable at the time of shipment. In such an event where inventory is not available at the time of shipment, a CSR will relay the circumstances to the customer in a timely manner and provide an estimated window for shipment. Should an estimated delivery date fall outside the acceptable range for the customer, the customer may remove the backordered products from their order within 48 hours of receiving the delay notice, so long as the order has not yet been shipped. If no such notice is received by Polycarbin, it is understood that the estimated shipping date for backordered products is acceptable to the customer.

Upon submitting a PO, a tracking number for your shipment will be sent to your specified email address and can be used to monitor the status of the order. Polycarbin reserves the right to ship an order as it becomes available, billing the customer as items are delivered. Under such circumstances, one tracking number will be provided for the entirety of the order.

Shipment Claims

Once a product shipment has been received, the customer is responsible for inspecting its contents, paying specific attention to any potential errors to the order or damage to the item(s) itself. If an error or damage is noticed, the customer is to notify a Polycarbin CSR within 5 business days of receiving the shipment. If no notice is received within 5 business days, it is assumed that the order meets all agreed upon criteria.

Payment Terms

At the time in which an order is placed, Polycarbin will charge the customer's account for all orders. In choosing to pay with a credit card, the order amount will be charged to the credit card listed by the customer at the time of the transaction. At the time of payment, the customer can expect to pay the amount listed at the time of placing the order, in addition to shipping and handling charges and any applicable taxes. Polycarbin reserves the right to collect interest equal to the highest lawful amount for invoices not paid within 30 days of the invoice date, accruing monthly (USD).
