RECYCLED WOOL & GRAIN
FABRIC COLLECTIONS

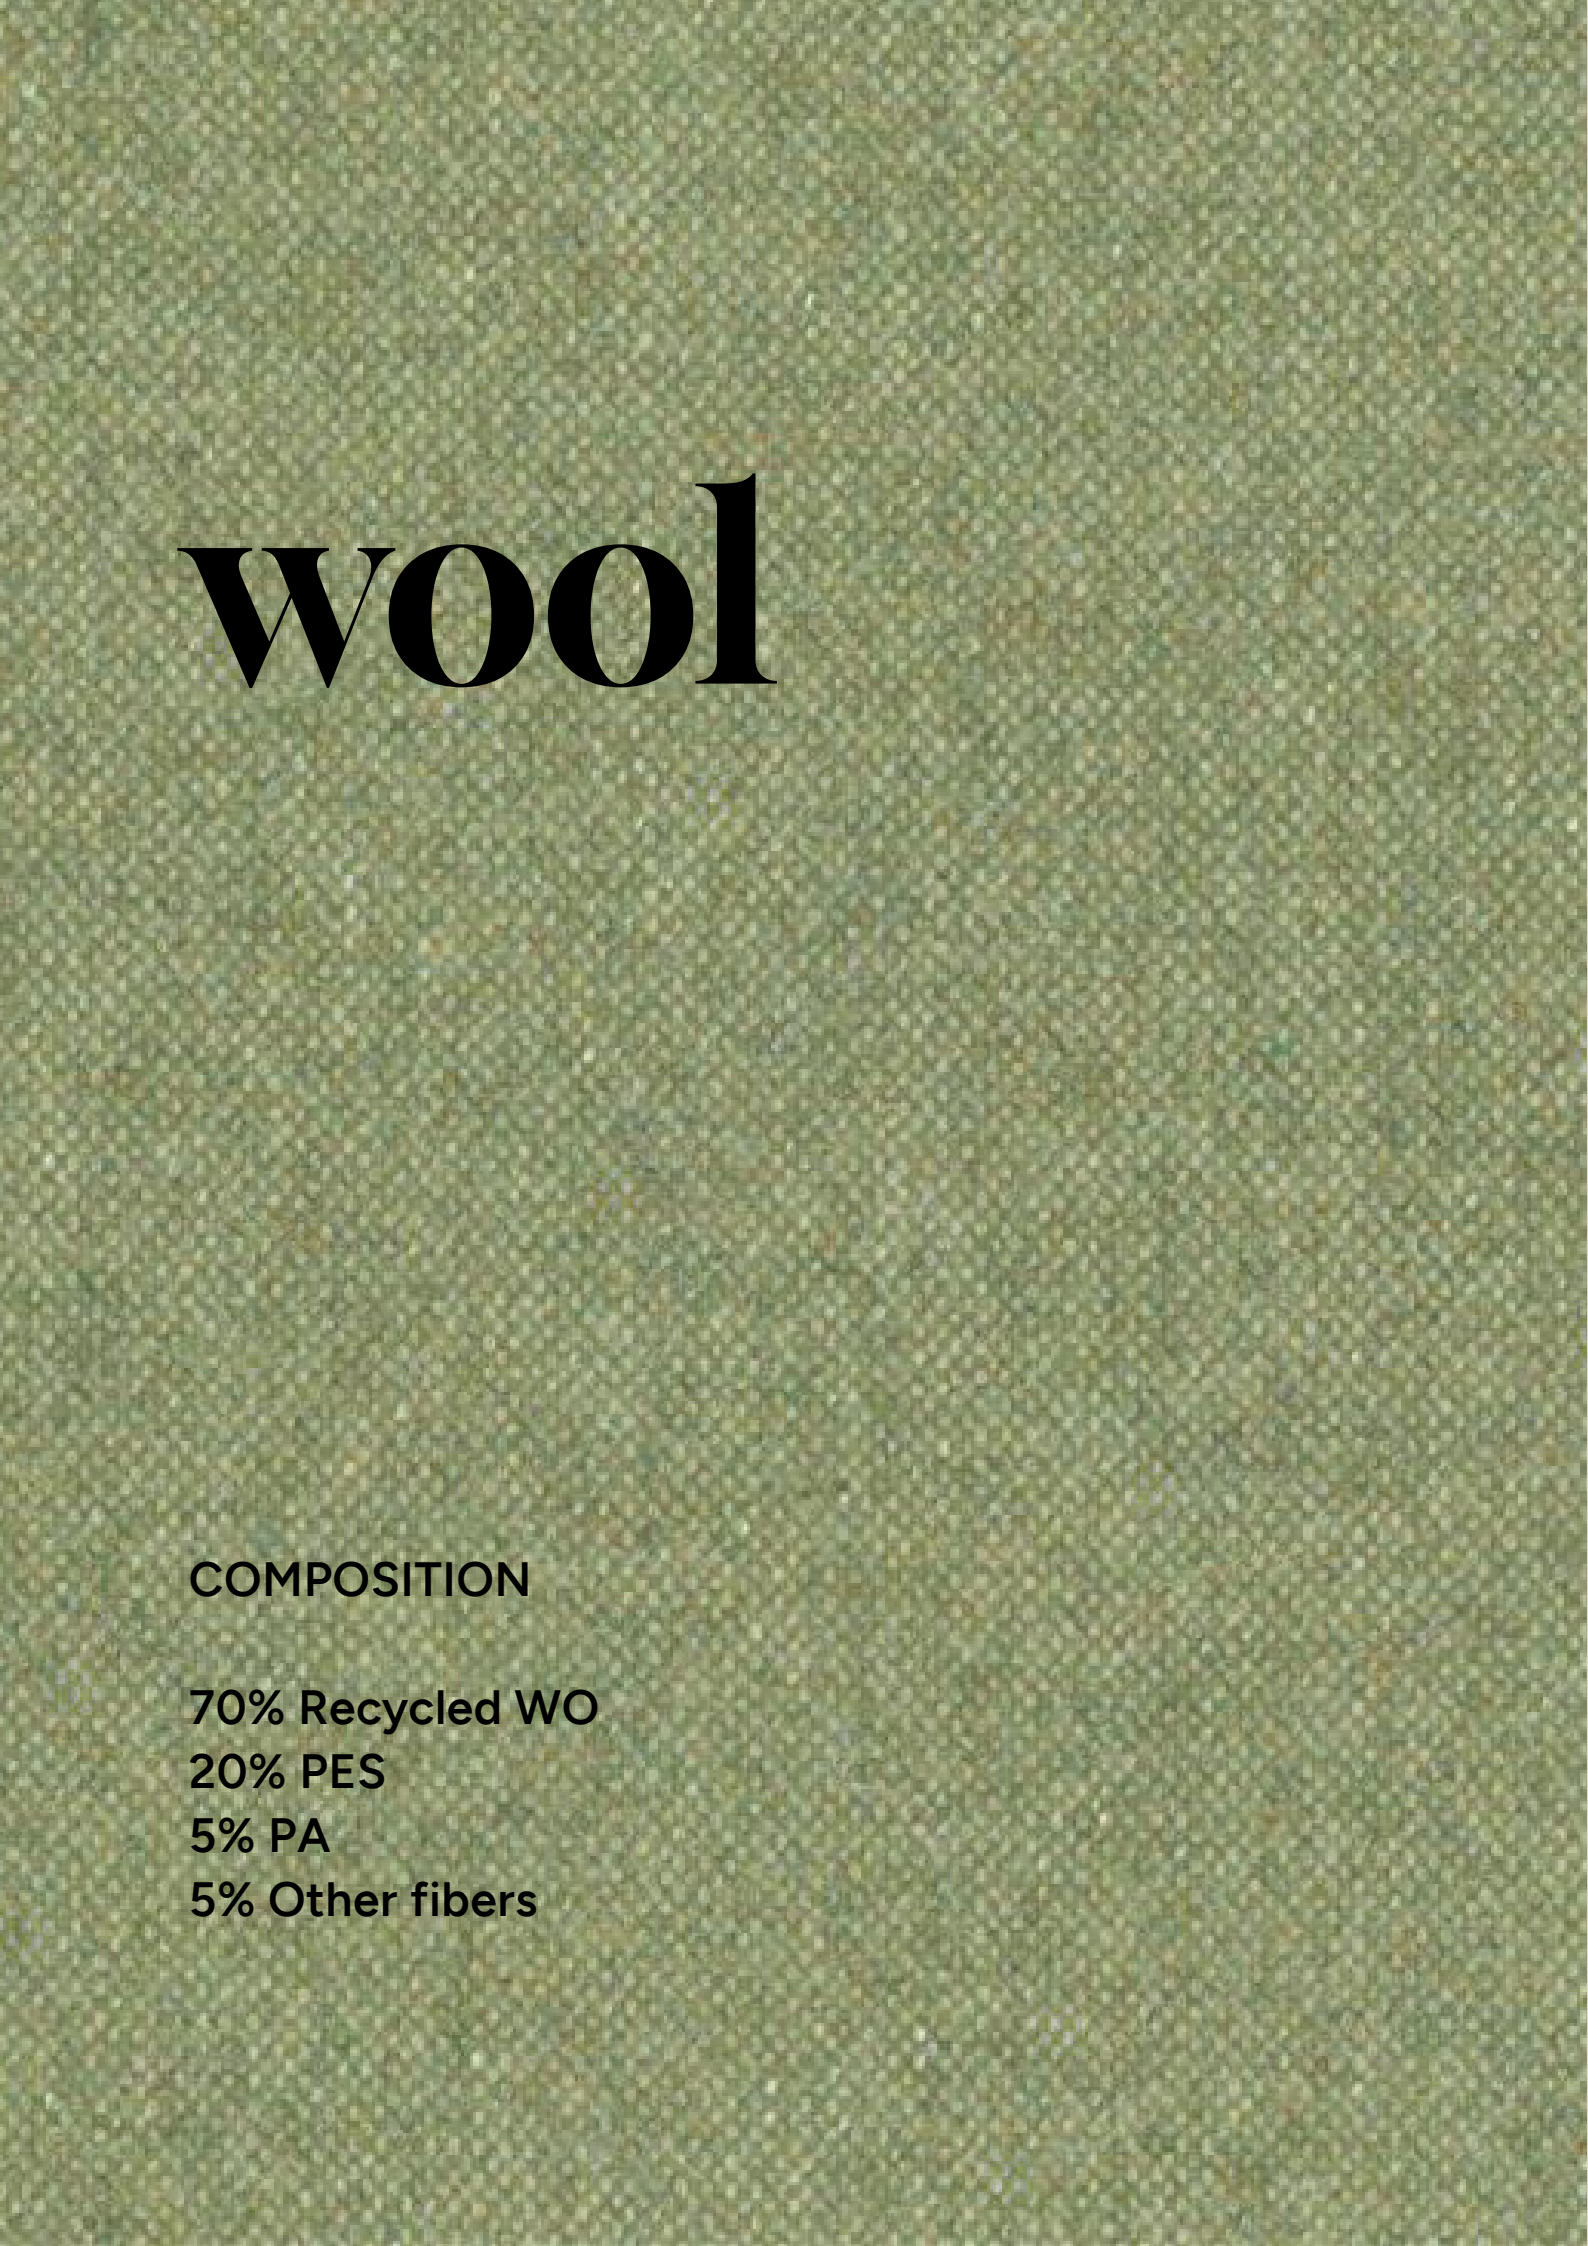

naturally responsible, beautifully designed

The RECYCLED WOOL & GRAIN collections reflect a conscious shift toward sustainable design—where environmental responsibility meets tactile beauty. Carefully curated by 366 Concept, these fabrics celebrate the elegance of natural fibres while embracing the future of circular production. Whether used on vintage classics or modern designs, these textiles add natural warmth, texture, and character to every piece.

for the conscious home

classic wool, sustainable values

Recycled Wool brings a natural, sustainable touch to modern design. Made from recycled clothing, it turns old materials into a soft, durable fabric with a classic feel. Its unique weave adds quiet texture and depth, offering a fresh look without losing its roots. Free from chemical treatments, it meets safety standards the eco-friendly way—proving that thoughtful design can be both beautiful and responsible.

RECYCLED WOOL

RECYCLED WOOL is made using recycled materials from the fashion industry, combining sustainability with sophisticated design. Inspired by the earthy tones of nature, its color palette features warm, organic hues. The contrast between warp and weft threads creates a delicate pixel effect, adding texture and visual natural appeal.

texture that tells a story

Grain is a fabric of quiet character—natural, sustainable, and full of hidden depth. Crafted from recycled fibres, its surface reveals a gentle mosaic of colour, with subtle flecks that shift and soften the longer you look. From afar, it feels calm and composed; up close, richly detailed. Designed for interiors that balance past and present, Grain brings warmth, texture, and a conscious touch to both bold forms and timeless classics.

GRAIN (RECYCLED)

GRAIN is a melange upholstery fabric inspired by mid-century design, particularly the distinctive Donegal tweed style from Ireland. Produced in Italy, it's made using recycled materials from the fashion industry. From a distance, the fabric appears uniform, but up close, you'll notice delicate silk flecks that add subtle natural color and texture.

made to last, made to care

In today's world, design must go beyond aesthetics—it must be responsible. At every stage of production, from material selection to packaging, we believe sustainability is not an option but a standard. Thoughtful choices result in products that respect both the user and the environment.

Our commitment to sustainability means creating furniture that lasts—both in quality and style. By choosing natural and recycled materials, we reduce environmental impact without compromising on comfort or beauty. It's about timeless design, responsibly made.
