

CELEBRATING ETHNICITY & PEOPLE OF COLOR IN THE INDUSTRY

This month DERMASCOPE celebrates aestheticians, business owners, and spa professionals in the industry who are working endlessly to change the industry's standards and to also continue educating, supporting, and raising up others who deserve recognition. Undoubtedly, this industry is not the most diverse, but the future of the industry includes these faces – a bright beacon of what the future can look like when a community supports one another.

KRYSTYN GARDINER

Krystyn Gardiner is a licensed aesthetician and cosmetic chemist student serving the greater Houston area. Her goal is to increase awareness, education, and literacy involving ethnic skin care. Skin is her mission for Painted Skyn Spa in Pearland, Texas. Learn more about Gardiner on Instagram @thepaintedskyn.

NICHELLE MOSLEY

Nichelle Mosley is a North Carolina aesthetician who has won multiple international awards and is the owner of Queen City Beauty Group. She focuses on whole-person corneotherapeutic solutions to achieve life-changing results for clients. Learn more at queencitybeautygroup.com or through Instagram @queencitybeautygroup.

VICTORIA PRINCE

Empowering women to practice self-love through self-care is Victoria Prince's goal. She is a result-driven NCEA-certified licensed aesthetician, published makeup artist, and author. She continues to devote herself to advanced skin care options and wellness practices for women of color, which inspired her curation of a beauty and skin care collection. Visit toriprincebeauty.com or follow Prince on Instagram @toriprincebeauty.

LISSET DIA

Lisset Dia is a licensed aesthetician located in Hollywood, Florida, specializing in corrective skin care for ethnic skin types. Her services minimize and prevent acne and fade hyperpigmentation. Glow Esthetics Spa specializes in acne and corrective skin care for diverse skin types, providing acne facials, chemical peels, microdermabrasion, and the Glow Skin corrective skin care line. Learn more about Dia by visiting glowestheticspa.com or following her on Instagram @laladakincoach.