Cheque drops is a liquid preparation of the steroid Mibolerone powder (CAS 3704-9-4), which are used by bodybuilders, power lifters, strength athletes and fighters, all for the purpose of increasing aggression and performance on the day of competition. Cheque drops are effective when used just 30 minutes before competition. Check costs can vary depending on the style of check you choose. Also, Preferred Rewards clients and certain account types qualify for free standard check styles and discounts on non-standard styles. Cheque drops (chemical name: mibolerone) were originally developed by Upjohn for the veterinarian market and never meant for human consumption. This is arguably the most liver-toxic steroid on the planet, so only 2 weeks on this AAS at a dose of 5mgs per day is enough for a user to experience very bad side-effects. In veterinarian applications, cheque drops are fed to female dogs during heat. The price of cheques varies depending on the amount and style ordered. With some banking accounts such as the RBC Signature No Limit Banking ® and RBC VIP Banking ® account, they are included.
