ABOUT

“Everyone thinks this iteration was directly inspired by a cacti because of its shape and color, but, to be honest, we just wanted to make a larger size of our signature lamp,” “However, it looked very empty with just the single shades, so we filled it in with more bulbs.” With the exception of additional glass shades, the table lamp preserves the original light’s organic composition that’s mean to resemble the human body’s natural curves. The especially organic and sculptural form blends in with modern interiors. Soft fabrics, pastel colors and ceramic surfaces create a magical combination.
