Right. 250mg a week is just a waste of test. You're not going to gain 10-15lbs compared to 20-30 anyway, whoever is telling you you can expect results like that is sadly mistaken. On a 10 weeker of test e 250 with a decent diet you can hope to get about 7-8lbs of muscle if you're lucky. It is very safe, especially if it's done under a doctor's supervision, with regular blood tests. 250 mg/week is the high end of a TRT dose. Testosterone is one of the safest pharmaceutical compounds ever. You will gain a huge amount of muscle from it, but with that your cardiovascular system also has to do more work.

I will not name brand and not name what online source, but both are highly rated. Just doesn't match there picture of products or brand online picture. 250mg Testosterone Cypionate in oily solution. inactive ingredients: 2.2% Benzyl Alcohol. 25% Benzyl Benzoate.
