CURRENT SITUATION

Considerable increase in the number of people with eating disorders and difficulties.

- DYSPHAGIA

Chewing and swallowing problems requiring a smooth pureed or minced modified texture.

- UNDERNOURISHMENT

Nearly 50% of people who go into retirement homes are undernourished.

- DEHYDRATION

The diet of elderly people in hospitals and retirement homes can often be:

- * Repetitive
- * Monotonous
- * Unbalanced
- * Vitamin deficient

Very young children, the disabled and post-operative patients are also concerned.

THE BEST SOLUTION

- FOR MEALS: the Blixer®

Texture modified foods:

Robot-Coupe has the perfect solution with the Blixer® which produces minced or smooth pureed texture modified foods that recreate a complete cooked or uncooked meal.

Blixers® are the only appliances that can process cooked or raw products without adding liquids. In this way, there is no loss of nutrients.

The chef can prepare the same meal for everyone, and provide texture modified versions when needed, thus.

Finger Foods:

Texture for people with swallowing difficulties caused by Alzheimer's and/or eating disorders.

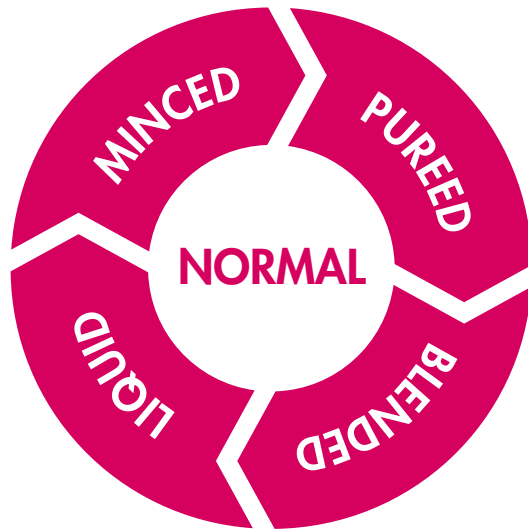

The principle of finger food is to provide high nutritive quality in a small, easy-to-eat volume that is easy to eat. Dignity, comfort and pleasure at mealtime are restored.

The aims are as follows:

- * Make mealtimes pleasurable
- * Encourage self-reliance
- * Propose more personal support

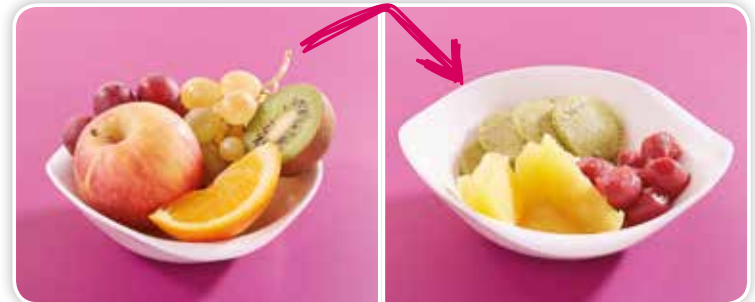

Improve the lives of your residents by offering flavoursome texture modified meals

The Blixer® will enable you to provide the type of texture needed for all your residents:

Complete range of 21 Blixers® with bowl sizes of 2.9 litres to 60 litres.

Breakfast is an eagerly-awaited moment for institutionalised patients and residents after fasting through the night.
