Wolo Dining Table

The Wolo Dining Table features the beautiful grain and luminescent sheen of Makata Wood, focusing on contrast as a guiding concept. The columnar legs feature thick legs attached with thin connective tissue for a sculptural feel. The simple geometry emphasizes the quality of the solid, sustainable Makata Wood, which features beautiful contrasting grains, color, and natural characteristics, along with a luminescent sheen that changes with the light. The dining table is part of the Wolo series, built upon the Wolo column motif - derived from contrasting heavy columns with thin connections and components for a sculptural look with contrast.

Makata Finishes

Sun at Six chose to work with Makata for its incredible grain and its sustainability. Makata Wood is as hard as oak with a color and grain similar in some instances to English Walnut. Its standout characteristic is strikingly dark heartwood. The wood species also has a beautiful variety of wood grain patterns that creates a flowing variation in color tone throughout an individual plank.
