About Nancy Wilson:

Nancy Wilson is celebrated as a seminal musician in rock 'n' roll history. A guitar virtuoso from the age of 9, Nancy (and her sister Ann) lead the multi-platinum rock group, Heart, who have sold upwards of 35 million albums. Nancy is revered as an ingenious guitar player, and as a gifted lead vocalist. In fact, that's Nancy singing on Heart's first Number One hit, "These Dreams." As a songwriter, Nancy has co-written a collection of indelible songs that have earned their way into the classic rock canon ("Magic Man," "Crazy on You," "Barracuda," "Straight On"). During an era when females were scarce in rock 'n' roll, Nancy helped carve out a place for women to front rock bands and dominate on stage. Her icon status was cemented when Heart was inducted into the Rock 'N' Roll Hall Of Fame in 2012.

In addition to her storied rock career, Nancy has also built a successful career as a film composer, including lauded scores for a number of Cameron Crowe films such as Say Anything, Jerry Maquire, Almost Famous, Vanilla Sky and Elizabethtown. In 2020, Nancy turned her attention to recording her first solo album. Released on Carry On Music in May 2021, YOU AND ME sees Nancy playing guitar and singing on all the tracks, including 9 new, original songs, and a stunning cover version of Bruce Springsteen's "The Rising."
