POLLY ALDERTON

A collaboration between Setanta Books and Open Doors Gallery

• • 9 POLLY ALDERTON

Polly Alderton is a photographer based in the UK. Her work concentrates on her immediate surroundings, with her family often being in the spotlight.

"I make work around the family album.

A compulsion to document everything in between the front doorstep pictures on the first day of school and Christmas Eve outside the church. It's searching; endlessly enveloping our bodies into small gaps, under blankets, within bodies, muffling the sounds to gain clarity and find our way. Memory and sensation, when did I stop hanging upside down or pushing fingers deep into small holes to create big rips?

I am hoarding too, giant vats of memories more reliable than my own; maybe? I'll hunt each image for clues one day, I know it.

There's always been a piece missing."
