Declaration of Conformity with California Proposition 65 Regulations

To whom it may concern,

The California Safe Drinking Water and Toxic Enforcement Act, now known as California Prop 65, is a regulation put in place to protect residents of California from chemicals, materials, and products which are known to be hazardous to human health, specifically causing cancer, birth defects, and other genetic abnormalities. Since 1986, this regulation has protected residents of California, and by extension nearly every US state, from known hazards in products they may use every day.

National Products Inc. takes this regulation seriously and continues to thoroughly monitor our products for all listed and unlisted chemicals from Prop 65. Although some raw materials contain listed and unlisted chemicals, repeated testing has shown that our products are well below the levels that we are required to report.

As such, National Products Inc. declares conformance with Prop 65.

Sincerely,

Johnathon Fitzpatrick
