

The ocean is getting dirty and sea animals are worried.

But they have a plan to clean up their home.

Let's see how all animals
get together to clean the ocean and make it
beautiful again

Once there was a big ocean with lots and lots of sea animals in it.

The text is centered in the middle of the page.

There were fishes,
turtles, whales, sea
horses and many other
animals.

But the sea animals had a big problem. There was a lot of garbage at the ocean top which was causing a lot of problems for sea animals.

The fishes would sometimes get stuck in
the garbage.

The water was becoming dirty and they were also
not getting sunlight
because of the big pile of
garbage.

The sea animals went to the wise old turtle and told him about their problem.

The turtle thought and thought and came with a solution.

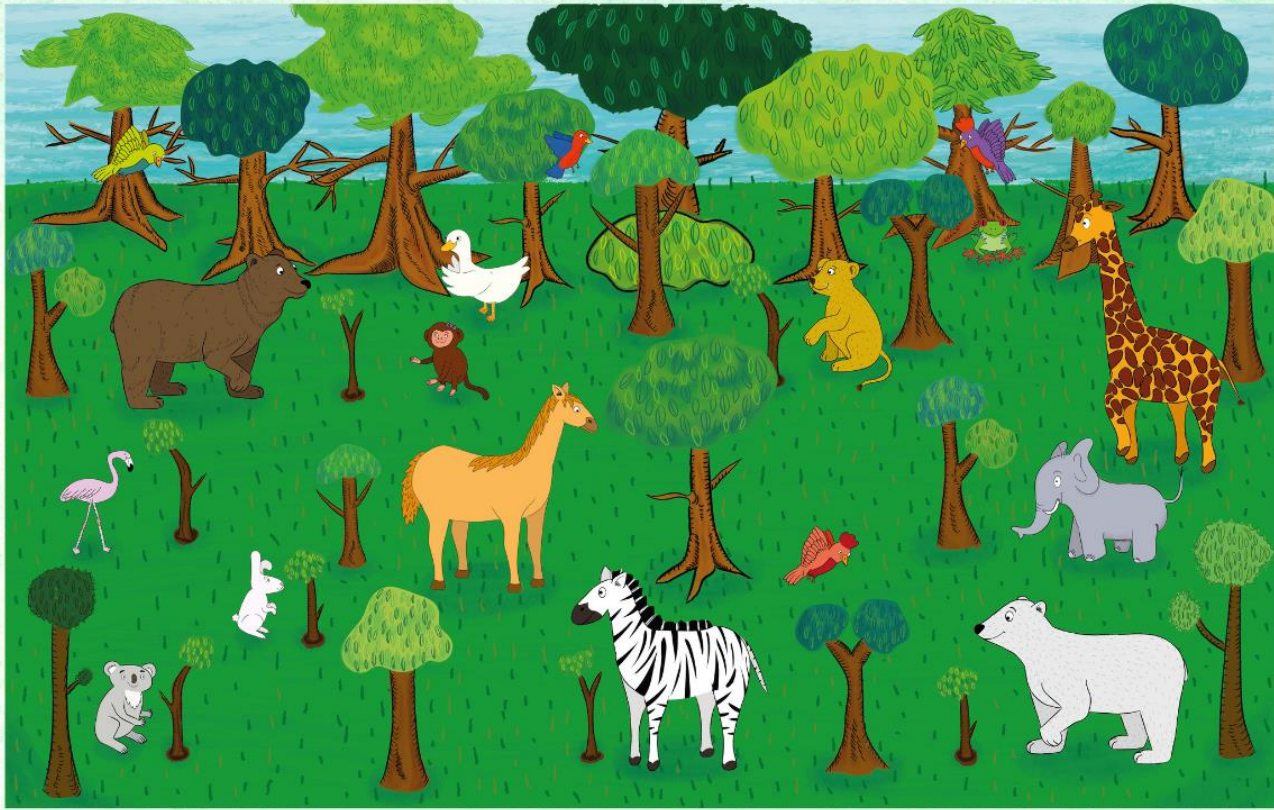

Next day, the sea turtle and all the other sea animals went and met their friends in the forest.

Sea Turtle asked his forest friends if they can help sea animals make a really big rope with leaves and twigs.

Forest animals also wanted to help their sea animal friends.

They all got together and started collecting leaves, branches and twigs from plants.

Soon the animals collected enough leaves, twigs, and branches to help their sea friends.

They called the wise old turtle and asked what needs to be done next.

The wise old turtle then told all sea animals that we need to make a giant rope using the leaves, twigs, and branches.

The sea animals all got together and started making a big rope.

They brought leaves and twigs and weaved them together to make a rope.

Soon a nice big rope was ready.

The turtle then called two giant blue whales.

He gave the rope to the whales and told them what to do next.

The whales took the rope around the
garbage.

Each whale held one end of the rope and wrapped the rope around garbage.

Once the rope was around the garbage pile, whales started pulling the ends of the rope.

The garbage also moved along with the rope as whales started swimming towards shore.

Soon, the whales reached the shores near
the forest.

The forest animals and sea animals were all waiting to do the next step.

The forest animals then started putting the garbage in boxes to send it for recycling.

The sea animals kept bringing the garbage and forest animals kept packing it.

After some days, sea animals and forest animals had managed to pack all the garbage.

The wise old turtle then called his friend, Aarna. He explained to Aarna all that they had done and asked her to help move the boxes to a recycling centre.

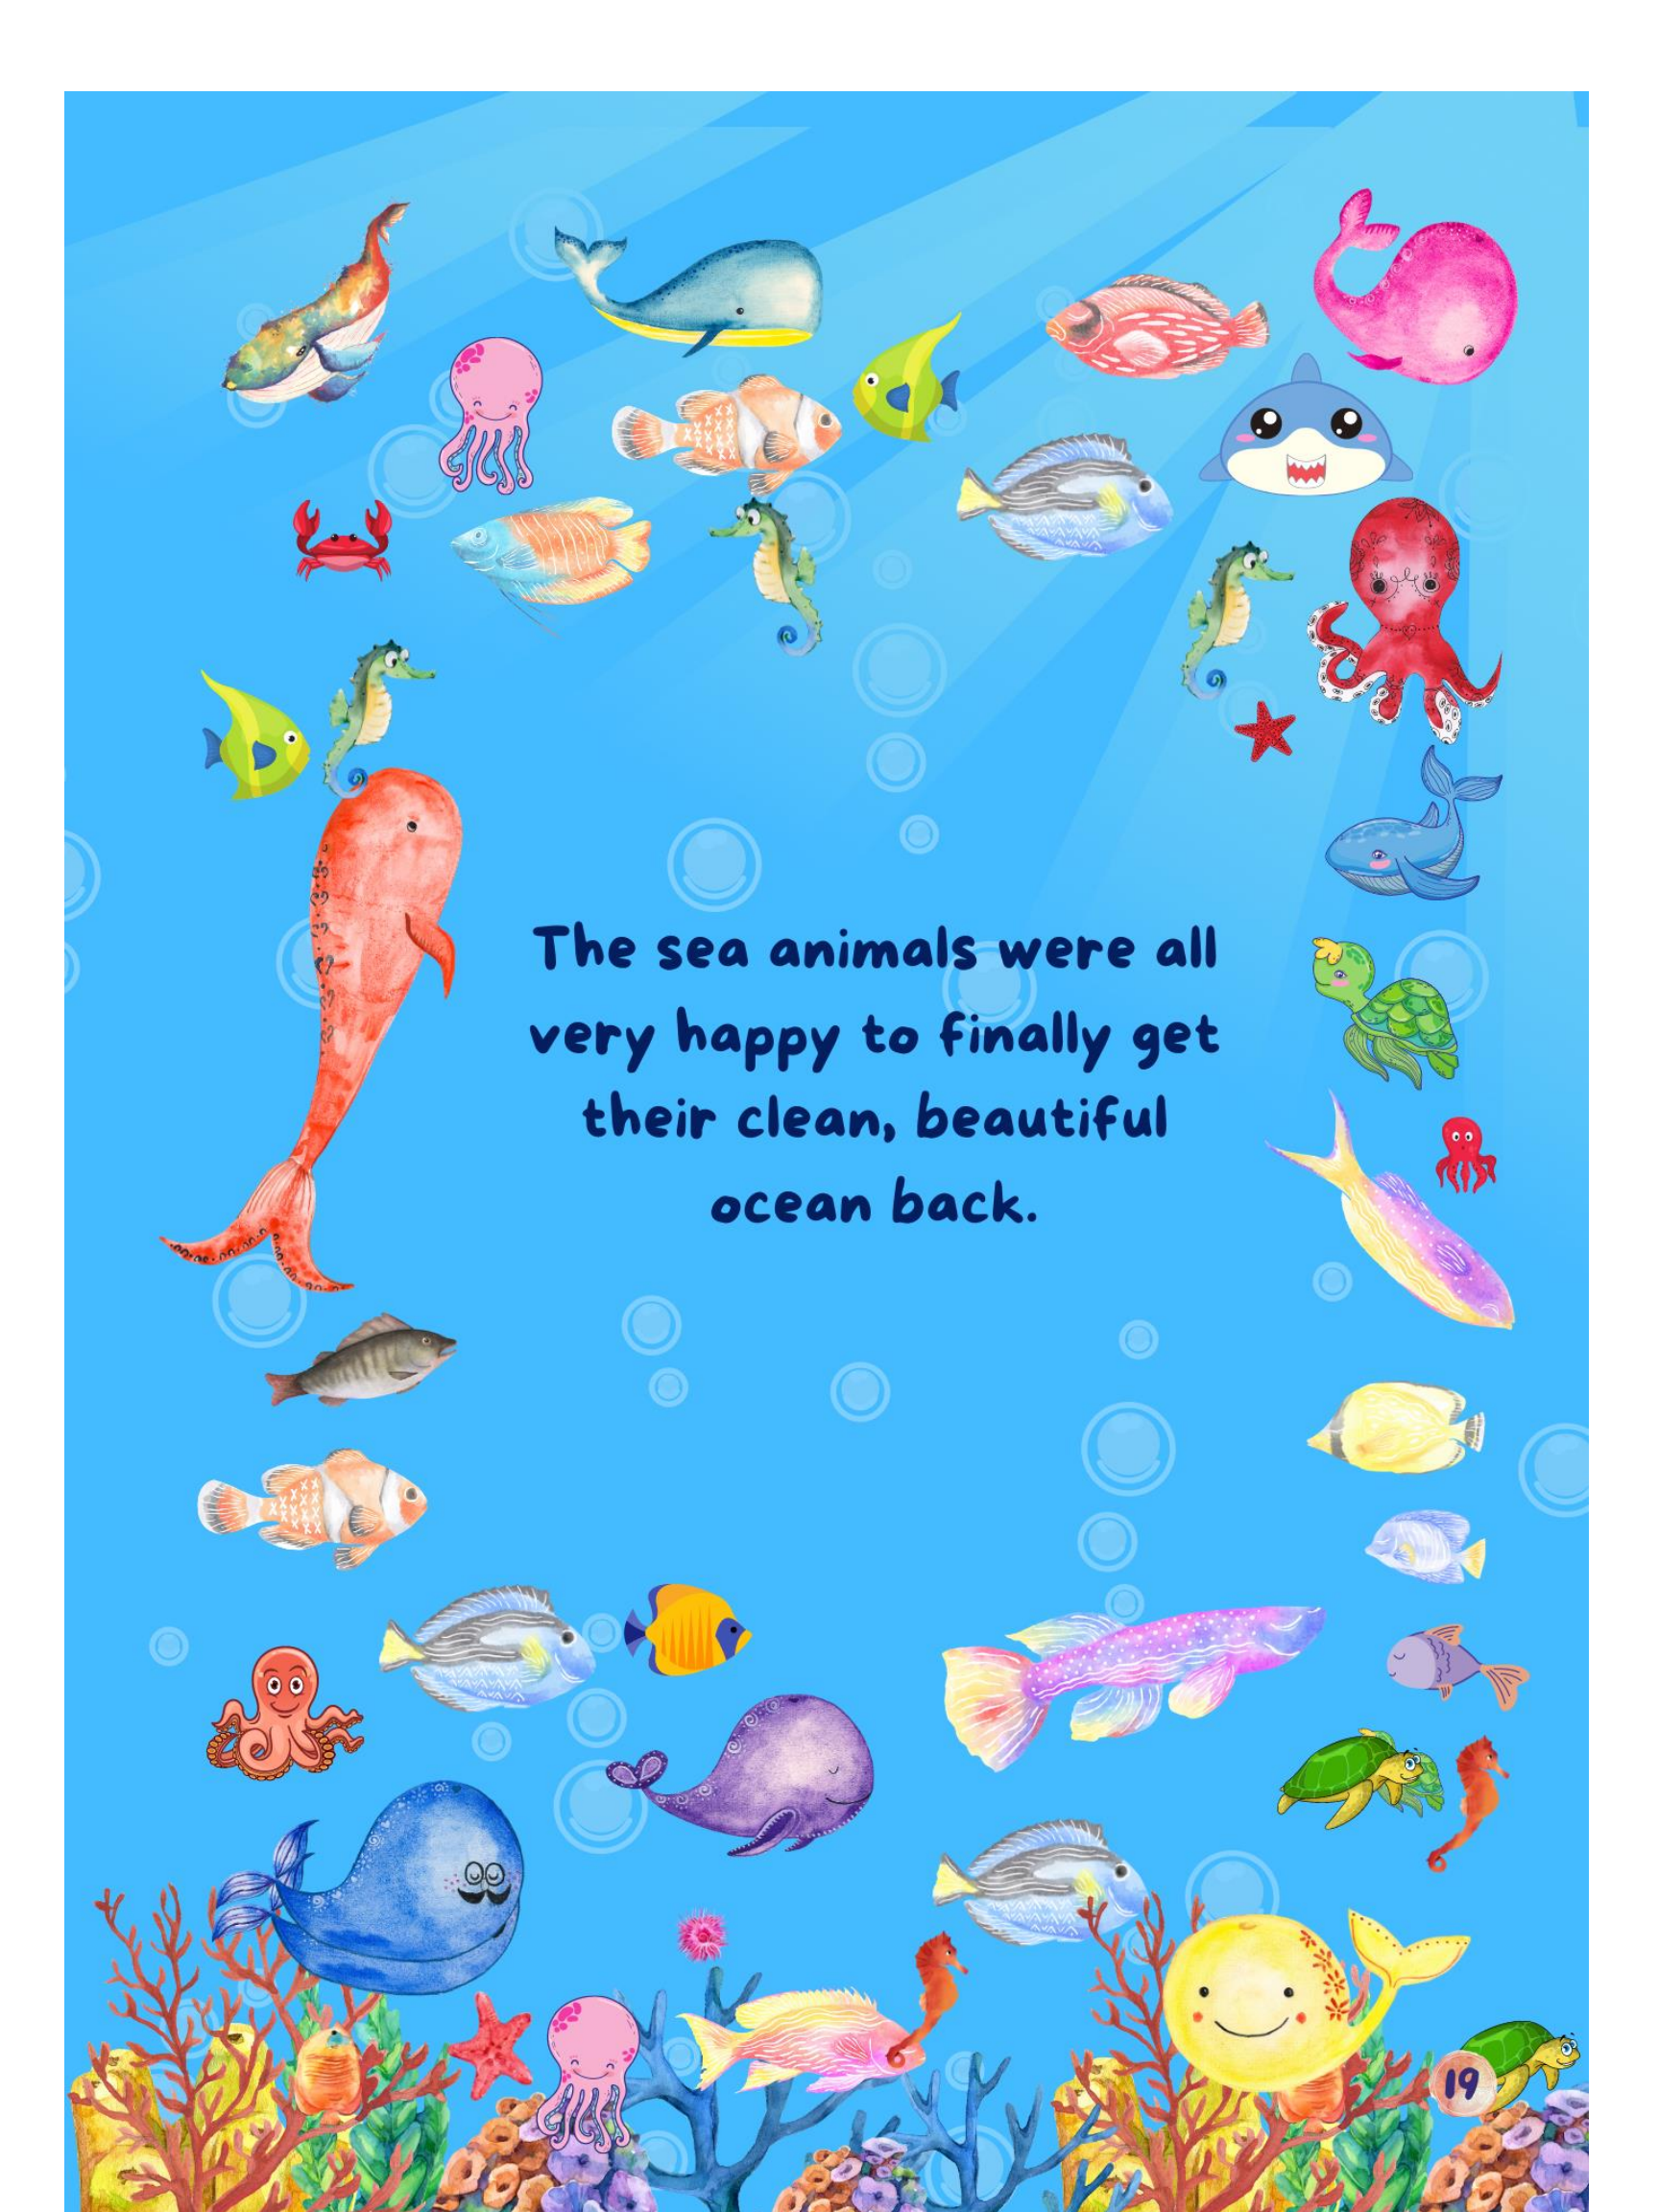

Aarna was amazed to hear how the animals had cleaned up the ocean.

She quickly asked her friends, family, and teachers to help move the boxes to recycling centers.

Soon all the boxes were moved to recycling centre and the ocean was all clean.

The sea animals were all very happy to finally get their clean, beautiful
ocean back.

Do you know how the
ocean got so dirty...

Well we humans have
been throwing garbage
for years everywhere
and this garbage
ultimately gets into the oceans.

Things like plastic bags
get into the ocean and
then cause a lot of
problems for sea
animals.
