“This was such a great resource. Students really tend to struggle with poetry, but this allowed them to see it in a gamified way. This drove them to think more analytically.” – Read and Write with Melissa

THE STORYLINE

POETRY

Your English teacher takes your class on a field trip to the Poetry Museum. After the long bus ride and the wait to get inside, you need to use the washroom.

You tell your friends to hold your backpack and wait in the lobby. You follow the signs to the washroom down a long hallway.

You can't find the exact door for the washroom, so you start trying to open all the doors you see.

FINALLY, one opens. You step inside and it slams shut! You quickly realize this is not the washroom, but a storage room.

You hope someone comes looking for you soon because you don't want to spend the whole trip locked in a storage room.
