

Guard Up

With the threat of the pandemic and the age of physical distancing, openplan offices are relooking design strategies to double up on safety measures. One such consideration? Screens in between workstations. The Sneeze Screen (118cm by 70cm) by Ipse Ipsa Ipsum is a protective acrylic divider that helps reduce droplet transmissions. With rounded edges and sleek stands in a brass finish, which can also double as bookends, it offers security without compromising on style.

The Sneeze Screen retails at $150 each (118cm x 70cm). Custom sizes are available, price upon enquiry. Contact hello@ipseipsaipsum.com or 9021-0437, or visit Ipse Ipsa Ipsum, #11-02 Tan Boon Liat Building to purchase.

stop shopping experience at Harvey

EDITORS PICKS

SHOPPING

Le Creuset has a dreamy new white and gold cookware collection

SHOPPING

KitchenAid debuts a new line of cordless appliances

SHOPPING

Keep cool with Sony's wearable air conditioner

SHOPPING

A smart, sleek kitty litter box that cleans itself

REVIEWS

#CheckItOut with Young Lim: Heyo Sanitiser turns tap water into 99.9% bacteri...

SHOPPING

The Cloon is the smart mirror of the future

