RULES CARD REAR

Player one fans out their cards and holds them face down so that no-one can see what they are. They then offer them to the next player, who randomly takes a card. If the second player can use this card to match up another pair in their hand they discard that pair too. Otherwise they keep that card.

They then hold their cards face down in a fan and offer them to the next player.

The first player to get rid of all their cards is the winner.

Play continues with the rest of the players matching pairs and discarding them until only one player is left with the "RATBURGER' card. All the other players then can shout...'RATBURGER!'
