

QCBB HAS A
Match For You

THIS VALENTINE'S DAY

A very special donor is showing the love for QCBB! Because of their generosity, all donations to Queen City Book Bank from Valentine's Day through the end of February will be matched up to $150,000!

Please consider a gift to QCBB between now and February 29th so that even more children can enjoy the joy of reading!

Books for Evie's Birthday!

As Evie Anacker was preparing to celebrate her 7th birthday, she requested her family and friends make a donation to the Queen City Book Bank, instead of asking for gifts for herself.

Evie was inspired to do this after shopping at Joseph-Beth Booksellers and learning about our organization. Evie enjoys reading and wanted other kids her age to have the opportunity to read and use their imaginations. What an incredibly thoughtful gift to others!

Happy birthday, Evie – we appreciate your kindness and fostering a love of reading for other children and families. Thanks, too, to Joseph-Beth for sharing our mission with your customers!

Xavier Teams Up with Queen City Book Bank

The Xavier University (XU) Basketball Program hosted their first Blue Blob's Book Drive to benefit the Queen City Book Bank! Both their men's and women's teams collected books for QCBB as fans entered the games.

Special thanks to XU players Quincy Olivari and Zach Fremantle for going above and beyond, volunteering at QCBB and mentoring at Oyler School.

We are grateful to the XU Athletic Department, teams and fans who partnered with us in this effort to improve literacy. We received some wonderful books for children in Greater Cincinnati and were honored to share our mission at the men's game against Villanova.

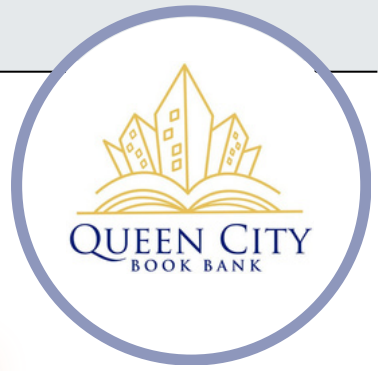

Book Drive Corner

Thank you to the students and staff at Usuline Academy for their recent book drive. They collected over 1,200 books! We are so excited to share these books with eager young readers!
