ABOUT AEGIS

Aegis Impact Protection was developed by a sports enthusiast and devoted hockey dad to four kids who all played the game.

Concerned about the level of protection existing neck guards were providing, he saw an opportunity to develop a more effective neck guard and change the standard for neck protection. After much rigorous testing, he created the world's first and only patented impact and slash-resistant hockey neck guard.

The Aegis brand has expanded this level of protection to hockey goalie neck guards and wrist guards.

After years of development and testing, Aegis is excited to introduce protective apparel for both goalies and multi-sports enthusiasts. Designed by athletes for athletes, our newest pieces incorporate the best impact technology from D3O °.

OUR MISSION

Here at Aegis, our mission is to provide leading technology in impact protection. It is our goal to continue bringing technically superior products to the market so that athletes can play hard but most importantly play protected.

The unified Aegis design philosophy presents a unique piece of equipment. Our innovative anatomical design maximizes comfort while allowing full range of motion to its wearer. Our equipment is designed to achieve our 3 main focuses:

STRATEGIC PARTNERS FOR SAFETY

As an industry leading strategic partner that delivers trusted impact protection, D30° has brought to AEGIS the most reliable, flexible and shock absorbing material possible. Our high-performing impact module featuring D30° was designed to maximize protective coverage of key vulnerable portions of the neck and throat, while remaining comfortable and not impeding range of motion. This revolutionary material can absorb twice as much energy as a standard PE or EVA foam five times as thick.

As the internationally recognized standard for slash protection in ice hockey, BNQ certification is essential. The Aegis Interceptor has been developed while working closely with BNQ's testing and certification team to raise the bar of safety and coverage. With softer and more flexible materials, the Interceptor is able to offer broader coverage both above and below standard slash lines, without becoming bulky. With the development of this product, the discussion has already begun with the regulatory board on creating a new standard for hockey neck guards, to include a requirement for impact protection.

WORLD'S FIRST IMPACT + SLASH PROTECTIVE NECK GUARDS

The Interceptor (Bib & Bibless) neck guards provide maximum protection for hockey players. With BNQ (Bureau de Normalisation du Québec) certification, these are the world's first impact and slash protective neck guards. Protecting its wearer from potential impacts and cuts to the neck area.

Featuring our 4mm thick flexible and pliable shock-absorbing D3O® insert. These neck guards will absorb impact 50% more efficiently than typical foam neck guards.

"I love it because it's very comfortable, it fits tightly and stays in position without loosening up or swiveling around while I'm out there on the ice. On top of that ... I feel secure and protected in the event that I were to get a puck or stick to my neck. Hope that never happens!! And ...it looks great!! Love it!"

"First impressions were positive in terms of fit and confidence in protection (we're big fans of D3Olab foams already), and ability to customize and adjust the height of the neck area is a positive too (though not necessary first time out) ..."

INTERCEPTOR BIB

"Our boys have been using Aegis neck protectors for many years. There is no question, they will be using Aegis ONLY, for as long as they play hockey. By accident, another player's skate blade sliced across his neck - on his neck guard. As a result, a potentially catastrophic injury was avoided. I hope to tell as many hockey players and parents as I can so they can be protected. Our hockey players deserve the utmost safety, and we should never sacrifice protection."
