

Experienced Sewing Machinist

About Naturalmat

At Naturalmat we've been hand making organic beds & mattresses at our workshop on the banks of the river Exe in Devon since 1999. We buy all of our raw materials direct from source, we manufacture everything ourselves under one roof and we only sell direct to customer via our own showrooms and website. It's this level of control that allows us to offer the best possible product and experience to our customers.

Sustainability has been at our core since day one. We've always used natural, organic materials from renewable sources, we pioneered sustainable packaging and installed solar panels on the roof of our factory. In 2020 we received a Queen's Award for Sustainable Development and we recently became the first B Corp certified bed & mattress company in the UK.

We currently have showrooms in London, Devon, Knutsford, Cornwall and the Cotswolds and are building a new factory, office and showroom on our existing site in Topsham. It's exciting times at Naturalmat and we need great people to continue driving this growth.

About the role

With the expansion, we are looking for an experienced sewing machinist predominantly involved with the manufacture of mattresses and other ancillary bedding products. Your day to day role will include all aspects of mattress cover manufacturing and sewing items of bedding, as well as preparing covers for headboards and bed bases.

We will rely on your existing skills in using relevant machinery such as sewing machines, and over-locking machinery. While we are looking to employ someone with previous experience, training will be provided for our specific product range. An on-site skills test may be required.

We are a busy and growing business with a great team, and we are looking for more enthusiastic machinists to support our growth - if you have sewing experience we would love to hear from you!
