

suede & velvet

MAINTENANCE

Our suede and velvet fabrics are made of a polyester composition, as polyester fibres are durable and easy to maintain. These types of fabrics are recommended for hardwearing environments.

The fabric requires regular soft brushing with the nap of the fabric in order to keep its best shape.

Fabrics such as velvet may change colour when exposed to light coming from different directions. This is not considered a defect, rather, it is just the nature of the fabric, and adds a unique touch to your piece.

spills

For any liquid based spills on suede or velvet, we recommend using a soft, absorbent towel to blot the stain. Do not rub, as this may cause pilling. If required, use a slightly damp cloth to assist in removing the stain. It is important not to apply too much water to the velvet, as the velvet needs to dry quickly to avoid any residual watermarks.

stubborn stains

For stubborn or hard to remove stains, you can use an upholstery cleaner. We recommend testing these cleaners on a discrete area before use. Carefully apply the cleaner to the fabric with a soft sponge, and ensure to leave the fabrics' pile undisturbed. After cleaning, be sure to vacuum and brush the pile back into place to keep the fabric looking its best.
