This just seems like a good idea to me and I wonder why I dont see it very often. As far as half life goes many of us run test Cyp or E as the base of our cycles. Having boldenone attached to the cypionate ester would match nicely to many products we use of similar half lives and you wouldnt have to wait so long to see results. You also wouldnt have to run it for 16 weeks to really have gotten. sources tell me
