

hey gorgeous!

We're so glad you've downloaded this Inspiration PDF. We're here to demystify how to craft the perfect wording for your stationery, and hope this helps you put together the wording of your dreams.

We've covered a range of styles and tones, from formal to casual and a few in-between, to give you a head start. And if you need a bit of advice or have any questions about anything wording-related for your stationery, don't hesitate to get in touch - just ping out with an email or call. We're always happy to chat!

the basics

DON'T FORGET TO INCLUDE THE MOST IMPORTANT DETAILS!

The very basic information that you need to include are the most obvious - so always make sure you've got the following included:

♥ What's the date guests need to reply by?

We recommend going with a date that's a minimum of 6 to 8 weeks prior to your wedding. This is to give you enough time to chase up late replies, finalise your seating plan lists, and get all that info to your venues, caterers, and stationers.

♥ Include a spot for guests to include dietary restrictions.

Dietary requirements is a section we highly advise including no matter what - these days, we're so much more knowledgeable about intolerances and allergies, and the last thing you want is your day coming to a grinding halt due to an adverse reaction. So include a spot that allows your guests to let you know this very important info so your venue and caterer can make sure they've got that covered.

♥ Want a few song choices or a message?

If you'd love your DJ to build the playlist to include a few banging tracks from your guests, just ask on your RSVP! And if you want them to write a little note to you and your love, you can do that too.

♥ How do you want your guests to reply?

If you're going with our RSVP postcard, make sure to include your return address in your wording so they can fill it out, pop a stamp and get it in the post with no mess or fuss. If you'd rather they email, text, call, or use a wedding website instead, then include the number or email you want them to use, or the website address - or even a custom QR code that takes them directly to the website!

♥ Worried that you'll end up with people adding extra guests you didn't invite in?

Talk to us about printing specific guest names on the RSVP - we've done it before, we're happy to do it again, and it'll help take that stress off of your shoulders of worrying that Uncle Baz is going to add his work besties on to the RSVP - and save you the awkward conversation of telling him "Not gonna happen!"

Now on to the inspiration!
