

2020 Annual Report

Dear Blue Skies Family,

As another year of service to the Army Aviation community has drawn to a close, we reflect with deep gratitude upon those whose support has made our efforts possible.

Our aircrews and their families have made substantial sacrifices in the name of freedom in both our homeland and internationally. On behalf of these individuals, families, and the community I extend our sincerest thanks.

Our mission presses onward, and our commitment to our community and Gold Star Families remains steadfast. We will continue to grow and develop in order to best serve our beloved community.

We thank you, once again, for your support.

Spencer Payne, Executive Director

Mishap Support

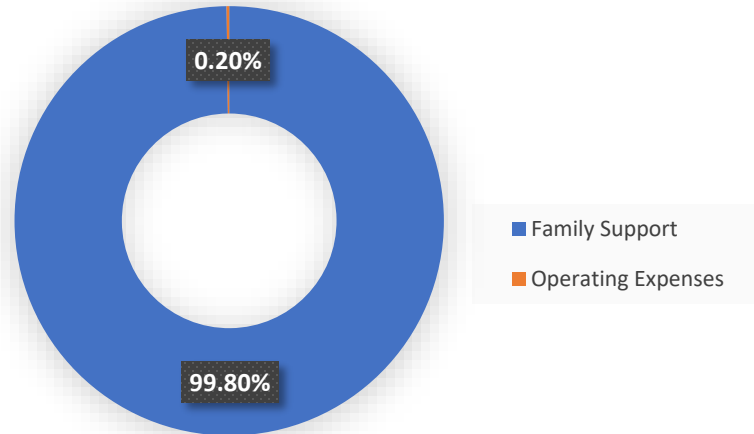

As a matter of practice, we step in and aid the affected families of a Class A (fatal) Army Aviation mishap.

In addition to immediately donating funds that have been raised through charitable donations and fundraising, the foundation's sister company designs a t-shirt unique to each mishap that we support. 100% of the profits of these t-shirts are donated to the foundation to be distributed to the Gold Star families. After approximately one month, the funds are divided, if necessary, and distributed to the families. These funds provide assistance with family travel, lodging, and incidentals.

Our support does not end there. The shirts remain available with all profits being donated to the families at the beginning of each month indefinitely. It is our hope that the shirts honor their lives, keep them present in our hearts, and serve as a reminder that what we do serves a higher cause.
