COLLIDE REFINING COLUMN

COPPER FILTRATION SYSTEM

For Wine & Spirits

TO re·fine...

A black wine bottle is tilted, pouring red wine into the dot of the lowercase letter 'i' in the word 'refine'. The wine flows down the stem of the 'i' and forms a small drop at the bottom. The background is dark with a subtle pattern of concentric circles.

“is to remove impurities or unwanted elements”

“to improve (something) by making small changes”

COLLIDE REFINING COLUMN

UPGRADE YOUR ALCOHOL

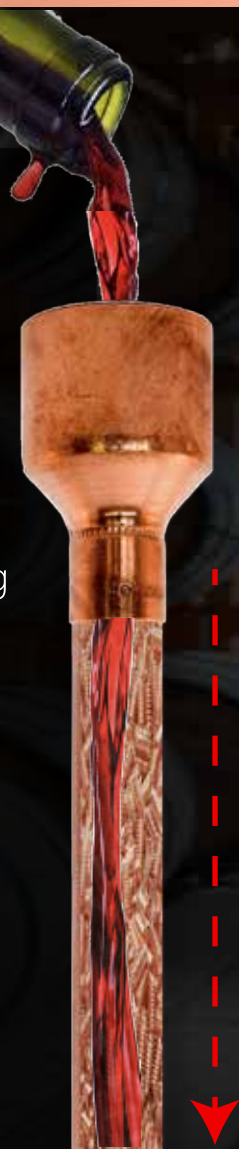

The Collide Refining Column is a reusable tabletop copper filtration device that refines the savoriness of wine and spirits. A must have for any home, bar or yacht.

Alcohol poured through the column refines undesirable sulfites, congeners and residual impurities by maximizing alcohol contact with the pure copper matrix composites embedded inside creating an ideal catalytic function. Higher levels of congeners are known to worsen hangover symptoms for some people.

SMOOTH FINISH | LESS BURN

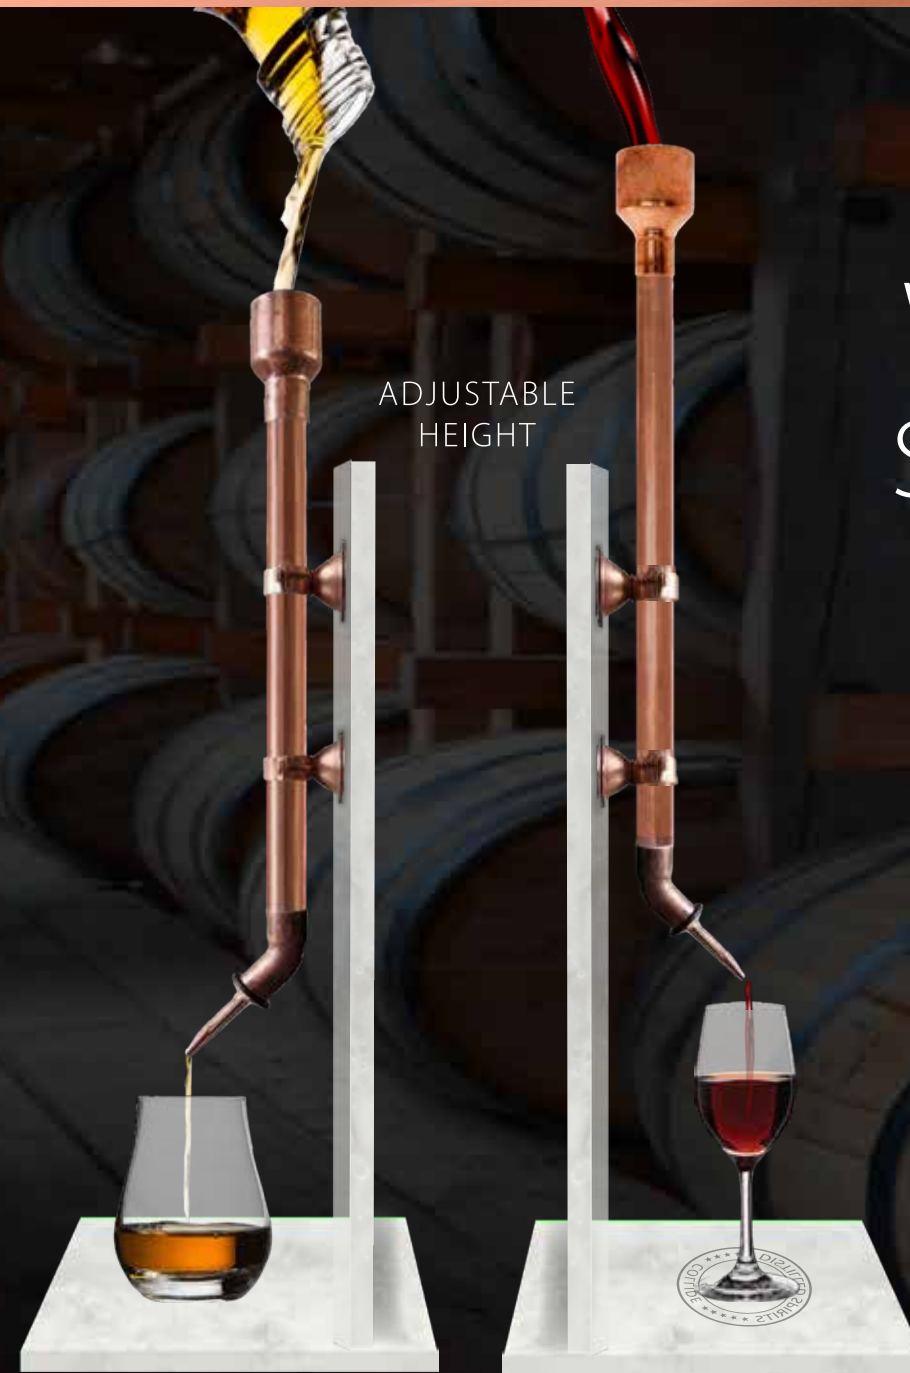

Refining the alcohol soothes the burn and improves the drinking experience by creating a smoother finish without compromising the ABV and flavor profile.

You can refine the alcohol with multiple passes until you get the desired finish that's perfect for you.
