Inspired by late Sublime front man Bradley Nowell, the Nowell Family Foundation provides addiction recovery services to the music community through the combined strength of the industry and those who have been touched by the power of music.

The Nowell Family Foundation proudly presents Bradley's House, a residential recovery facility that provides treatment options for people in the music industry with opioid addiction regardless of their financial situation. Phase 1 – a transitional sober living – opens on December 1, 2023, in Southern California.

Along with that programming, the Foundation has set goals to bring a global awareness of addiction, recovery and to strengthen mental health. The Nowell Family and supporters thank you so much for your participation.
