An improvised weekday meal with friends, a festive pre-game drink for sports fans, a weekend dinner with extended family: whatever the reason for entertaining, it should not be stressful. With more than 80 tempting, easy-to-prepare recipes, with a special emphasis on local, seasonal produce, and on sharing what we have with love and friendship, Martin Juneau offers a multitude of creative options for feeding our guests, without spending many hours in the kitchen. He has come up with dishes for every taste—meat and fish to grill or smoke, handsome vegetables that take a starring role in the centre of the table, one-pot dishes that make us go back for more—along with useful tricks for getting good results both with barbecue grilling and with food and wine pairing. With Festive! every occasion is a good reason to celebrate and share a delicious meal in good company.
