

ACTIVE WITNESS

Benefits for

Office Spaces

Office spaces are a crucial component of the modern business world. They are used by a wide range of industries, including finance, law, marketing, and technology. As businesses become more diverse, so do their security needs.

KPrime Technologies is a North American security solutions provider, partnering with major players in technology and security. Being a sales and service organization, KPrime has invested in acquisitions and partnerships to offer comprehensive security solutions, including access control, security cameras, and screening systems. As the security landscape continues to evolve, there is a growing need for more efficient access control systems that can evolve with the growing needs of their business.

Here is what KPRIME's CEO, Kham Lim had to say about their recent implementation of Active Witness at their corporate office

How KPRIME Streamlines Operations With Sima

Being a leading provider of innovative technology solutions, KPRIME recognized the need for a cutting-edge security partner to streamline their facility access. Kham Lin, KPRIME's CEO, explains that they chose Active Witness due to "the Security of 2 level authentication, Ease of installation, and managing the personnel access."

According to a survey conducted by HID Global in 2021, nearly 90% of employees and personnel would prefer to use mobile credentials rather than physical keycards. This highlights the growing trend of companies moving towards digital solutions for access control. Mobile credentials offer convenience, speed, and flexibility for employees, clients, and visitors. For sales and service organizations like KPRIME, simplifying access is crucial to streamline operations and improve customer service. With Active Witness, KPRIME has found a solution that meets the intersection of security and convenience.

The frictionless two factor credentials allows users to enter without the need for physical credentials like fobs or access cards. Everyone has their phone on them, and you can't forget your face. "Active Witness works with standard electric door strikes, no extra hardware, and managing access through a modern cloud solution that just simplifies the whole enrollment process," adds Lin.