

ZAMZOWS

WILD BIRDS

Common to the Treasure Valley

Dark-Eyed Junco

There are four types of Juncos in the West. Our most common visitor is the Oregon Junco. They have pink bills and a dark head with brown back and sides. The Junco is a ground feeder. They clean up all the spilled seed from hanging feeders. Attract them by using a ground screen feeder.

1 2 3 8

House Finch

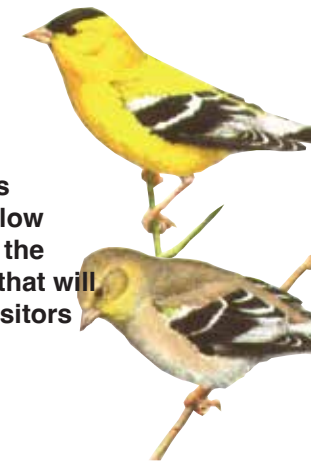

The plumage is brown with dark streaks below. The male forehead, breast, and rump are red.

2 4 7

American Goldfinch

Winter plumage for both sexes is brownish grey. The male has yellow on the throat and face. In spring the male becomes a brilliant yellow that will make him one of your favorite visitors to your feeders.

2 4 7

Hairy Woodpecker

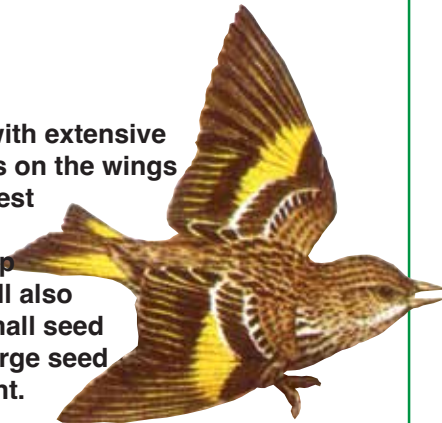

These birds have white backs, black tails, or black and white tails. The head is striped black and white.

8 9 12 SUET

Pine Siskin

Plumage is gray-brown with extensive streaking. Yellow patches on the wings and base of the tail are best seen when the bird is in flight. Thistle is on the top of their food list. They will also be attracted to quality small seed mixes. Stay away from large seed blends with a milo content.

2 4 5

House Sparrow

The male is brown streaked with black on the upper body, gray cheeks and under body.

1 2 3 11

Red-winged Blackbird

The male is black with red epaulets with pale yellow trim. The female is streaked brown with a red trim to the shoulders. this bird is a ground feeder.

1 3 6 SUET

Northern Flicker

Also known as the Red-Shafted Flicker. This bird is one of the larger birds to visit your yard. He is brown with a white rump, and spotted with black underneath. The male has a red mustache.

8 9 12 SUET

Mourning Dove

The long, tapered tail has white edges. The wings have black spots and are pink on the bottom. Doves are ground feeders. They scavenge seed that falls from feeders.

1 6 9 10 11

California Quail

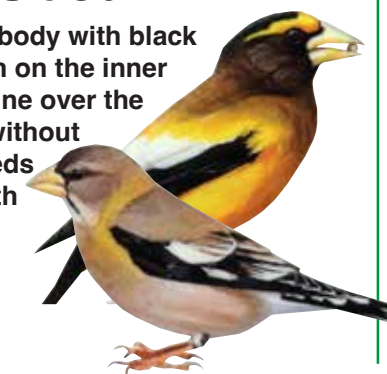

These birds are predominantly gray with a blue-gray breast. The body appears to have scales of white and gray. They feed mornings and evenings. Providing cover will attract more birds.

1 6 9 10

Evening Grosbeak

The male has a dark brown body with black wings and tail, a white patch on the inner wings, and a bright yellow line over the eye. The female is grayish without the yellow eye line. Tree seeds are this bird's main diet. With a strong beak it can crack even cherry pits.

1 5 8 9

ZAMZOWS Wild Bird Feed

- 1 Deluxe Bird Lovers Blend
- 2 No Sprout Wild Bird Mix
- 3 Custom Wild Bird Mix
- 4 Nyjer Thistle Seed
- 5 Song Bird Blend
- 6 Premium Dove and Quail
- 7 Premium Wild Finch Blend
- 8 Sunflower Hearts
- 9 Black Oil Sunflower
- 10 Game Bird Deluxe Seed Block
- 11 Smorgasbord Buffet Seed
- 12 Block