New Leaf Natives 2024 Catalog

With the past season being a great success we would like to sincerely thank all of our customers who have supported us and allowed us to continue doing what we love: growing high quality native plant material. Over the past year, the New Leaf Natives nursery has had some exciting growth. We finished construction on our pole barn, installed nursery trial gardens, sowed 7 acres of native seed, and expanded our outdoor growing areas. While making improvements to our new facilities, we continuously strive to improve our growing practices and add new species to our product line up. We are very excited to announce that this year, back by popular demand, you will be able to purchase individual potted plants from us via our online shop. If you are close enough to visit us in person, please consider coming to one (or more) of our public open houses, listed on our website, where you can shop in person and talk plants with our knowledgeable staff. We hope that you are looking forward to this season as much as we are.

The New Leaf Natives Team

Our Roots

New Leaf Natives was founded by owner, Chris Oesterling, in 2016 while Chris was studying Environmental Science at University. The classes he took on plant identification and habitat restoration started his ongoing passion for native plants. Already an avid outdoor enthusiast and gardener, along with an overwhelming lack of locally grown natives, the decision to open a native plant nursery was born.

Since opening, we have propagated over 300 different species of plants native to the East and Midwest while continuing to add new ones every year. The majority of our plants are grown from seed while some of the more complex species may be asexually propagated through cuttings. We rely on a combination of hand collection and sourced seed from providers in our eco-region to produce plant material. Our plants are grown and sold fully rooted in plugs and smaller containers, as we find it to be the most economical and efficient way to provide plant products to our customers. We are also in the process of adding woody species to our catalog.

In 2022 we relocated our Nursery to its current location in Manchester, MI. Our new 60 acre location has allowed us to expand our growing space and production numbers as well as offer wholesale pricing to qualified customers. Our current clients include, but are not limited to home gardeners, landscapers, contractors, nurseries, and environmental organizations. During our time operating the nursery, we have been encouraged by the continuously increased interest in native plants and are grateful for the opportunity to be a part of the movement. Our goal is to facilitate the increase in natural habitat and biodiversity by providing the highest quality plant material possible.
