FINE ART

Marc Anderson was born in 1987 and raised in central Wisconsin in the Rockwellian town of Wild Rose. Marc began working as a professional artist while studying illustration at the University of Wisconsin-Stout—first as a caricature artist at a local amusement park and eventually as a freelance illustrator for a variety of clients and publications. While the caricature and illustration work were a far cry from the fine art world, they proved an invaluable jumping off point for Marc's career as an artist. The drawing skills and quick decision making required in those fields would become foundational as he waded into fine art painting.

After Marc discovered the world of plein air painting, the big-eared, goofy faces requested by demanding carnival patrons were quickly replaced with painterly depictions of the Wisconsin landscape. Notwithstanding, the Wisconsin winters would once again drive Marc back into the studio.

In 2018, Marc opened a painting studio that would serve as his workspace as well as a home base for teaching workshops. As Marc's love for representational painting expanded, so too did his list of professional accomplishments. His work has been accepted into prestigious shows around the country and has garnered awards from Oil Painters of America exhibitions, national juried plein air events, and fine art shows. In 2020 he judged the nationally renowned "Richeson 75" competition held at the Richeson Gallery in Kimberly, WI.

Marc currently resides in Wauwatosa, Wisconsin with his wife Anna and studio cat, Frankie.
