Vicki Robinson, a Charleston native and a graduate of Winthrop College in SC. Her career as an interior designer lasted 25 years. During that time, she owned several design businesses on the Charleston islands and the sea islands of Georgia.

Due to an illness with her child she decided to close her businesses. It was a time of introspection, leading back to her love of art. In 1998, she began studying with master artist Elizabeth Bronson in McClellanville, SC. She has also studied from other notable artists, Kevin MacPherson, Scott Christiansen, CW Mundy and others.

Living in Charleston, offers so many opportunities to get out and paint the beautiful scenery. You will find Vicki most days in her studio or out painting one of Charleston's beautiful sites. From her design days, she will spend hours getting her still lifes set up with an array of interesting objects. As with many artists, the play of light is an important element of her paintings.

Vicki has been part of the local art scene for the last 15 years and has won awards in local shows. Besides the gallery, She is an exhibiting artist with Piccolo-Spoleto and the Southeastern Wildlife Exposition.
