A warm and cozy retreat for any furry friend.

The Dutch lifestyle brand Stoov® is known for its portable design heated cushions and blankets. With Woov, Stoov® also offers a favorite warm bed for four-legged friends that promises comfortable relaxation with innovative Stoov® infrared heat technology anywhere at home or on the go.

A dream come true for pets & their owners.

As is characteristic of all Stoov® heated products, Woov is also equipped with 100% safe, certified infrared heating technology with integrated overheating protection and automatic switch-off. The special thing about infrared technology is that it warms from the inside out, thereby supporting muscle relaxation. This is, as for humans, also for animals, very beneficial and completely safe. Especially for heat-loving cats, Woov will undoubtedly become a welcome experience. Thanks to the cordless design, the pet heating cushion with rechargeable battery provides hours of cozy warmth in all the favorite places of the big and small four-legged friends.

Woov is available in two different Stoov® covers: Woolly and Outdoor. Woov Woolly is made of a particularly soft fabric whose texture is reminiscent of a sheepskin and promises a woolly-soft indoor cuddling experience. Woov Outdoor is a synthetic olefin fiber fabric which is water- and dirt-repellent plus UV resistant, which makes it extremely durable and sturdy but feels cozy and snuggly at the same time.

With its generous size of 60x90 cm, Woov offers enough cuddle space for the four-legged friends to make themselves comfortable in their favorite position.
