

BEARDED DRAGON, GUINEA PIGS, AND THEIR HUMANS' SHOULDER, LEG AND FOOT PAIN

07/10/2006

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

We purchased a Bioptron Compact III light after witnessing the results of several demonstrations by the sales rep Graham O'Gorman.

First, he put the light on our bearded dragon's leg because it was badly swollen and she appeared distressed. She had been climbing and had a fall after being chased by her tank mate. After 8 minutes of the light therapy, she was completely back to normal and the swelling had gone down. We now have her in a terrarium of her own.

Next was the boss Ardie Drummond who had suffered shoulder pain for years. After 8 minutes of Bioptron light therapy, the pain had gone and he was very impressed with the light.

Next we had some guinea pigs brought in and within 2 days they showed signs of back leg paralysis due to lack of calcium in their diet. The light was used on them several times and one is completely healed, the other two still need more light therapy but they are getting there and we have added more calcium to their diet as well.

I take the Bioptron light home every night and use it on myself with pleasing results because I have suffered a lot of leg and foot pain among other things. I sit there watching TV at night, put the light on the stand provided and shine the light on the areas that give me trouble. So easy!
