

HORSE ECZEMA

Icelander Roam 6 years old

Since his import from Iceland an intense Summer-eczema at the mane and the hock developed.

Therapy: treatment for four days, twice daily for 8-10 minutes, then every three days for 8-10 minutes, shining the light in slow movements over the diseased skin areas.

Result: disappearing of itching after the first treatment. After two days the effected skin areas were dry and scaly. During all of summer the skin stayed scaly, but dry and without itching. Prophylactic treatment has been applied each summer since 1992. Sometimes there is a slightly scaly skin, but no eczema occurs any more.

Comment: In cases of Summer-eczema the treatment with PILER-Light does not always produce the desired effect. Sometimes there is only a slight improvement or no improvement at all.
