

ECZEMA, DERMATITIS AND CONTACT DERMATITIS

November 2000

To whom it may concern

I have had eczema, dermatitis and contact dermatitis intermittently all my life. In fact I first developed it in the first few days of life. I was plagued with it during my early life and although most of my adult life has been spent finding the best way to deal with it, success has been varied.

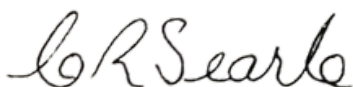

Diet and environment have a great deal of influence on this condition and although I'm aware of all the elements that trigger its onset, it has continued to break out inconveniently on regular occasions.

Earlier this year I started treating my hands (which are the most susceptible) with the Bioptron light and Oxy-Spray, followed by Swissological Multi-Regenerating Cream, treating the area consistently twice a day, with steady and sure results. I noticed that the results were more long-lasting when treatment continued until ALL traces had disappeared.

However, the most remarkable result for me came about 5 months ago when my hands broke out yet again and after a week of itching, red raw skin I decided it was time for some light therapy. But this time I decided to try the #11 Colour Therapy programme for facial and body skin problems.

Within days the raw itching sensation had stopped; by the end of the first week clean new skin was appearing through the flaky dead skin. Interestingly I only treated my hands specifically (the only affected area) once during the whole time the schedule was being implemented. After each application my face took on a distinctive "glow". Since completing the programme the condition has not returned since.

It has been a very satisfying result thanks to Bioptron and its Colour programme.
